

PhD Graduate Research Assistantship

Position

The Fluker Lab and Sweet Lab at Arkansas State University are seeking qualified applicants for a PhD Graduate Research Assistantship to study phylogenomics, population genomics, and taxonomy of the Rosyface Shiner complex in Arkansas and beyond. Start date Summer or Fall 2023.

Program options

We have PhD programs in Environmental Sciences (EVS) and Molecular Biosciences (MBS).

Compensation

Salary is $18-20K per year with tuition waiver. Funding available for supplies, field travel, and conferences.

Qualifications and experience

BS or MS in Biology or related field. Prior research experience desired. Ideal candidates will have some combination of experience in aquatic/fish sampling, genomic techniques, bioinformatics, scientific writing, and taxonomy.

Apply by February 1, 2023

Send a single PDF file with statement of interest, CV, transcripts, and contact information of 3 references to:

Dr. Brook Fluker (bfluker@astate.edu)

Dr. Andrew Sweet (asweet@astate.edu)

